Introduction

Barrhead Housing Group is committed to providing a working environment which is free from harassment, bullying and intimidation of any nature. Every employee, governing body member, agency worker, contractor, and consultant of Barrhead Housing Group has a responsibility to treat all colleagues with dignity and respect, regardless of any personal characteristic. Under legislation there are certain characteristics protected from the area of harassment, Barrhead Housing Group will acknowledge these and also extend this protection to all staff within Barrhead Housing Group. The terms bullying and harassment will be used throughout this policy to mean dignity at work.

Background

The definitions concerning some of the terminology used within the scope of dignity at work have changed over the years. Most recently the Equality Act 2010 provided a legal definition of harassment but there is still no current legal definition of bullying. However, ACAS provides a definition which is widely recognised as being best practice.

Legal Framework

Harassment is the only term relating to this policy that is covered under legislation in the Equality Act 2010, however there are a number of legal principles contained in the following legal documents that will apply as follows:

- The Equality Act 2010
- Breach of contract - usually breach of the implied term that an employer will provide support to employees to ensure that they can carry out their job without harassment and disruption from colleagues
- The common law position to take care of the safety of workers.
- Employment Rights Act 1996 – constructive and unfair dismissal
- Personal Injury protection including the duty to take care of workers arising out of the Law of Delict.
- Health & Safety at Work Act 1974

- Trade Union and Labour Relations (consolidation) Act 1992 dealing with specific types of intimidation
- Protection for Whistleblowers under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998
- Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994

Definitions

Harassment: unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic which has the purpose or effect of violating an individual's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual. Barrhead Housing Group will extend this definition to include all, and will not be restricted to those identified as having a protected characteristic.

Bullying: Offensive, intimidating, malicious or insulting behaviour, an abuse or misuse of power through means intended to undermine, humiliate, denigrate or injure the recipient.

Protected Characteristics: The legal grounds in which discrimination claims can be made; i.e. age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage & civil partnership, pregnancy & maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation.

Policy Principles

This Dignity at Work Policy aims to:

Procedure in Dealing with breaches of Dignity & Respect

This procedure is complemented by Barrhead Housing Groups Equality & Diversity and Discipline & Grievance policies

Staff

Where an employee feels that they have not been treated with dignity & respect at work, there are a number of ways in which this can be addressed.

1) Informal stage

Where possible, breaches of this policy should be dealt with informally in the first instance. In many cases, inappropriate behaviours are unintentional and can easily be resolved once the behaviour has been highlighted. This is often the most efficient way to maintain positive working relations.

In managing the issue informally, employees should in the first instance alert their line manager to the behaviour, thereafter the employee should be encouraged by the line manager and with their support approach the individual and highlight what behaviour has been offensive. Should the employee be uncomfortable with this then the line manager should approach the individual and have the same discussion. A note should then be put on file of the person who has displayed the inappropriate behaviour and the individual that raised the issue.

2) Formal Stage

If the behaviour is of a more serious nature or it continues after the informal approach has been taken, then the issue should be dealt with by mirroring Barrhead Housing Group's grievance procedure.

The employee must put their concerns in writing and give this to their line manager. The line manager should then arrange a meeting with the employee who has highlighted the concerns. At this meeting the manager should establish what the concerns are, and how the employee would like things resolved. The manager should then conduct any necessary investigations. No investigation should take place prior to there being a meeting with the employee. Once the investigation has been concluded, there could be a variety of outcomes including:

- There is no evidence to uphold the complaint
- There is evidence that may involve action against another member of staff
- Action is required on a Barrhead Housing Group wide basis

Where action is required against another staff member this will follow the Barrhead Housing Group's disciplinary procedures. Where action is taken regarding a member of staff other than the person who raised the complaint, the complainant will not be informed of any action taken against other individuals.

Governing Body Members, Agency Workers, Contractors and Consultants or members of the public

Where a governing body member, agency worker, contractor, consultant and/or members of the public feel that behaviours towards them have breached the principles of this policy, they have a responsibility to inform the Chief Executive of this as soon as reasonably practical. The complaint will be investigated appropriately and dealt with in accordance with the relevant policies and procedures.

Individuals found to be in breach of the principles of this Policy

Where individuals are found to be in breach of this policy whether that be employees, governing body members, agency workers, contractors, and/or consultants this will be dealt with in accordance with Barrhead Housing Groups code of conduct policy and other relevant policies. This may therefore result in termination of the individual's contract, or engagement within Barrhead Housing Group.

Malicious Allegations

Any person found to be making fictitious or malicious allegations will be dealt with through Barrhead Housing Group's disciplinary procedure which may result in dismissal.
